

Participation in NICOLE

NICOLE is an international network of European organizations related to industrial soil pollution which include leading industrial companies, companies which provide soil contamination remediation services, as well as academic and scientific institutions.

VentEko is the only Latvian company represented in the NICOLE group.

The main goal of NICOLE network is to proactively encourage the ability of European industry to identify, assess and sustainably deal with matters related to industrial soil pollution by applying cost-effectiveness analysis.