

International practical Environmental management training

Environmental responsibility is becoming an increasingly important concern for all organizations. Businesses of the future need to demonstrate an efficient management of environmental risks and satisfy the needs of diverse range of stakeholders, suppliers, community and government authorities.

VentEko is offering a wealth of training and education opportunities for our clients, all environmental training courses can also be offered for in-house presentation either in an unmodified form or as a tailored course or series of courses.

Some of our most common topics that have been included in our past environmental training courses include, but are not limited to:

- Environmental impact assessment (EIA);
- Waste water and solid waste management;
- Inter-ministerial cooperation strengthening for sustainable environmental development;
- Programs and projects preparation for sustainable environmental development (case study based).
